

"We flew the Squirt tonight under beautiful skies, with the temp in the 70's and just a slight, cocoa infused breeze. This is Founder's Park in Hershey, Pa, as you can see the Milton S. Hershey "Founders Hall" in the background.

Collin (age 8, and the pilot of record), took the sticks after control and range check with a gentle hand launch at 90% throttle. He's been flying for almost 3 years and I'm proud to say has a much better safety record than the old man. My other son Connor (age 10) flies a bit too, but has less interest and didn't want to risk flying such an historic plane. After a few minutes I was able to wrestle the dx6 from Collin and get a few minutes in myself. We had a squirt that we put many flights on before passing it on to someone else, so we were intimately familiar with the flight characteristics and experienced no problems.

What an honor to be a part of this event and to meet some other great people on my transfers. We fly alone in our parks so its refreshing to see that I'm not the only overgrown kid playing with toys!

Thanks to all who made this possible!!"
